

January Volunteer of the Month Celebrated

L to R: Allison Schmitt, Helpline Center; John MaComb, Hope Haven; Keith Corbett, City of Brookings Mayor; Vonda Kirkham, Harvest Table; David Clark, Volunteer of the Month; Kevin Tetzlaff, President and CEO of First Bank & Trust in Brookings

The Helpline Center congratulates David Clark on being named the January 2020 Volunteer of the Month, an area-wide award program sponsored by the Helpline Center and First Bank and Trust.

David is an energetic, heart-driven, tireless volunteer who gives of himself continuously to help those in need whether they need a meal, bed, wheelchair, or a lending hand. His heart leads his mission of stewardship, dedicating his life to being a worker, a leader, and truly a great example of what it means to lend a hand to anyone who needs help in any way. David's example is unending and awe-inspiring from making wheelchair parts for Hope Haven International, to building beds for Sleep in Heavenly Peace, volunteering at the Harvest Table, Beacon Hill Rifle and Pistol Club, Outdoor Adventure Center, area churches, and several more organizations over the years. David's testimony is clearly a heart for stewardship with a smile on his face and a willing, unwavering spirit. It's a privilege of many to volunteer alongside David!

David has been doing some type of volunteering and helping his entire life and has dedication that doesn't quit. David has a heart for ministries from helping to feed people, to helping kids sleep in their own bed, making it possible for people to have the mobility of being in a much-needed wheelchair, to generally being an integral part of countless other churches and civic organizations.

It's truly a pleasure for those who get to work alongside David as he continually is a selfless, dedicated, and willing volunteer who gives of himself 100% for those who find themselves in need of just about anything. He's a person who is behind-the-scenes, behind-the-cameras, and who demonstrates a kind and passionate heart for helping others.

Congratulations, David, on being our much-deserved January Volunteer of the Month!
